

Remote services with customized measures!

Educai Remote Services provides training and support services tailored to the various remote needs of customers. Remote services are one part of Educai Oy's extensive service offering, and the developed methods enable e.g. organizing traditional meetings and trainings virtually anywhere. In this way, the cost savings from travel, accommodation and working hours alone are significant. Educai Remote Services brings modern and ecological remote service solutions to companies, educational institutions and various organizations.

Educai Remote Services ensures that work distances are irrelevant and that the necessary support and guidance are in place in real time. We assemble solutions that meet the needs of the company by combining remote software and hardware into an easily and efficiently functional entity. By doing so, we want to free up the customer's resources for the actual core business.

A tailor-made entity is the heart of the operation

Technical on-line support, developed especially for the needs of companies, enables real-time control in problem situations. For example, in the event of a problem in the field, a mechanic working in the field can get on-line support from their own organization, support material and other relevant information.
